The Pension Research Council Symposium on Diversity, Inclusion, and Inequality: Implications for Retirement Income Security and Policy explores the determinants and dynamics of inequality in retirement income outcomes with an emphasis on inequality by race and ethnicity. Researchers will examine the role of housing wealth, pensions, and Social Security in reducing inequality. In addition, experts will evaluate inequality-mitigating effects of old-age public and private retirement saving programs policies. Although there has been a great deal of public emphasis on top 1% and 0.1% of wealth inequality, the conference aims to consider inequality for more representative people, excluding the highest wealth shares.
